SOLD

1. Date: 17 April, 1986
2. Time: 0130 hrs
3. Summary:
 - a. Site area seems to be flat land, possibly surrounded by low hills, making a very shallow valley.
 - b. Site has a large building. This building is tall, squarish, multi-storied. It seems surrounded by other buildings, but separated from them. It gives both an impression of being a large, square building, and a "capped-top" building, too.
 - c. Entranceway to building is very ornate and decorative.
 - d. Inside building, two rooms were viewed, which seem to be somehow related to each other in a way I don't understand.
 - 1) One room is plain-walled, yellowish in color, relatively open on the top half. The bottom half seems to have lots of large tubular and square equipment. It is noisy, but seems to be the muffled noise of pipes carrying something rather than harsh motor noises, etc. Voices can be heard from another room.
 - 2) Other room is ornate. There are two types of people here:
 - a) One type may not be physically present in the room (felt their presence, but couldn't ever nail them down). They seem to be just standing there doing nothing, like servants or guards. They seem uniformed or "appropriately attired".
 - b) The other type consists of two specific men who are engaged in a heated discussion:
 - 1) One man is older than the other, is somewhat heavy-set, is wearing a black or dark colored suit. He seems to be accustomed to power and position. He is tired, aggravated with the other, and somewhat condescending toward him. His feeling seems to be that the other man is a jerk, a transient problem, and a bother. He seems more annoyed with the heated discussion than concerned about it or its content. AI of this man is that I don't like him.

2] The other man is younger, slimmer, and is dressed in clothing which is a very strange olive drab tinted yellow ochre/sand/khaki color. This man seems to be the "more powerful" of the two, and seems to be "running" the heated discussion. He is very agitated and concerned about something. He seems distraught. AI of this man is that I REALLY don't like this one! However, I do appreciate the fact that he shows real concern. Concern seems appropriate.

e. There seems to be some reason why the other (equipment?) room is important to this heated discussion, but I never could determine what it was, since neither man seems even aware of its existence. I would guess that it is the fact that the discussion can be overheard from there, but that is pure conjecture.

4. Personal evaluation: I feel very good about this information. It "felt" like a good session.
